Johnson & Johnson Career Forum
Asia-Pacific, EMEA, and Latin America
Week of September 12th
www.mba-exchange.com/jnj1109

Career opportunities within Johnson & Johnson companies can help you build your leadership experience, express your passion, and touch your community and the world.

The Johnson & Johnson Career Forum webinar series will provide detailed information about our International Recruitment and Development Program (IRDP), which offers leadership development assignments to Master’s/MBA students and then full-time career placement in their home region of Asia-Pacific, Europe/Middle East/Africa, or Latin America. You’ll have an opportunity to:

• Learn what it’s like to work, grow, and advance within our companies
• Get an overview of the types of positions we offer in your home region
• Interact with business managers and recruiters who can answer your questions

The Johnson & Johnson Family of Companies offers a unique combination of structured development and career flexibility that can help high-potential candidates build important leadership experiences and accelerate their careers.

Your unique talents and perspective can make a vital contribution to innovative products that touch the lives of more than a billion people around the world every day.
